A NIGHT IN JUNE.

The world is heated seven times;
The sky is close above the lawn—
An oven when the coals are drawn.

There is no stir of air at all;
Only at times an inward breeze
Turns back a pale leaf in the trees.

Here the syringa's rich perfume
Covers the tulip's red retreat—
A burning pool of scent and heat.

The pallid lightning wavers dim
Between the trees; then, deep and dense,
The darkness settles more intense.

A hawk lies panting in the grass
Or plunges upward through the air—
The lightning shows him whirling there.

A bird calls madly from the eaves,
Then stops; the silence, all at once
Disturbed, falls dead again and stuns.

A redder lightning flits about,
But in the north a storm is rolled
That splits the gloom with vivid gold.

Dead silence, then a little sound;
The distance chokes the thunder down;
It shudders faintly in the town.

A fountain plashing in the dark
Keeps up a mimic dropping strain.
Ah, God, if it were really rain!
—Duncan Campbell Scott in Cosmopolitan.

Russian Forests and Rivers.

A European student of forestry has been considering the effects of the removal of forests in southern Russia. There immense growths once lined the banks and guarded the sources of the Volga, the Don, the Dneiper and other rivers, insuring a full, perennial flow. But a spirit akin to the "enterprise" which has destroyed wide forests and desolated broad areas in the United States has devastated the Russian wilderness and left a wilderness of different character. The result as seen in the great rivers is deplorable. The "Mother Volga" grows yearly shallower; the steamers find scarcely seven or eight feet of water in midstream; and the ferries pursue their snakelike course from bank to bank in search of the ever shifting channel.

The Don with its tributaries is choked, the sources of the Dneiper creep downward and its chief tributary, the once noble Worskla, with a flow of some 220 English miles, is now dry from source to mouth. The exhaustion of the springs indicates that the river will not reappear. The Bitjug, a river in the Don region, has likewise disappeared; valley and bed are filled to the banks with sand and earth.—Syracuse Standard.

What a Lie Did.

The madness of suicide as a relief from mental anguish was vividly illustrated a few years ago by an incident which occurred in an Italian town. Moretti, a tailor, was sent to prison on a charge of fraud. His sweetheart called upon the police officer to ask how long Moretti was likely to be confined and was told that it would be probably for many years. The policeman had been instigated to say this by the girl's mother, who disliked the match. Overwhelmed with grief and thereby driven to despair, the poor girl put an end to her life by poison. A few days later Moretti was released from custody, the accusation against him having been proved false. He returned home to find his affianced bride a corpse. Frenzied at the sight he, too, destroyed himself. The lie wrought a double tragedy.—Boston Transcript.

A Legal Wreck.

Legal Tender—Dearest Irene, let me lay my case before you, and you shall judge whether I am in error in stating my claim for years. You know I have been courting you a long time, and by a fair trial you say you have found me defending that which is right; why not, then, consent to my prayer for your hand and heart? Dearest Irene, I plead. Do not say no. Let me have your answer. Do not demur.

Irene—I am afraid, Legal, you are too brief, but my decision is—if you give security for the costs of every suit I may order or contract, then I may confess——

But he made a motion for his hat, and the arguments were dismissed then and there.—Boston Courier.

Piano Beds.

Of all the modern inventions in space saving furniture the piano bed is the most horrible. To think of having a voiceless piano ever present! I would be haunted always by the melodies it should sing by the sight of the keyboard that is not there. It would be like the sight of the phantom ship to the shipwrecked mariner to a lover of music, and would tantalize past all endurance the musician.—New York Herald.

Two Professions.

When Professor Rokitanski, of Vienna, was asked if he had any sons, he answered "four."

"And what professions have they chosen?"

"Two howl and two heal," was the laconic reply.

A couple of his sons are preachers and the other two are doctors.—Exchange.

WHY GO "BROKE?"

It Is Easy Enough, Says the Philosopher, to Make a Living.

"No man has any license to be broke in New York." The speaker was a well dressed, keen eyed youth of eighteen.

"You can earn the undying gratitude of thousands in this city alone if you will tell them how to escape the discomforts, not of simple poverty, but of downright want," said a bystander.

"What is your recipe?" inquired another listener.

"You will all grant me," said the young man, "that even the poorest 'bum' or most incorrigible gamin that runs the streets can get a 'stake,' say twenty-five cents, without much trouble. All right. On that foundation any boy of six or a man of sixty can earn enough to house and keep him comfortably. How? Let him invest that sum in morning or evening newspapers, and keep turning over a fair percentage of his profits every day.

"Even the largest of Park row newsboys seldom earn less than fifty cents a day on a smaller original investment than the one I have used for the sake of argument. I know what I am talking about, because five years ago I was hustling around in bare feet the same as the rest of them are now, and I could make my living expenses and have a little to spare at the end of every week. Show me a man, woman or child in this city who is a beggar and I will show you an individual who is too lazy to do even the lightest kind of work."

After these sententious remarks the youth turned and walked up Newspaper row. "There is a youngster who will be worth a big fortune in time," said a bystander. "I knew him well several years ago when he was regarded by the other newsboys as a hustler. His clothes were nearly as ragged and his face and hands as dirty as the street gamin's usually are. Five years ago he conceived an idea. He knew that there were several of his companions in the street who would rather stand behind a newsstand for a small daily remuneration than hustle around the streets and take chances of getting 'stuck on their papers,' as they express it. He picked out two honest boys and entered into a contract with them. He agreed to pay them forty cents a day to take care of small corner stands. The young man bought all the newspapers and stocked the stands himself, and the boys were held to a strict accounting. From those two stands and what he earned himself on the streets he put $11.50 away clear at the end of the first week.

"That money was put into two other stands that he established in the uptown district. All of them succeeded, and the number was gradually increased until a year ago he had thirteen boys at stands and eleven around the ferry entrances working for him. Today his staff is fifty strong at least. He owns two big stands under elevated stations where traffic is heaviest. The boy must be worth at least $12,000 today if he is worth a cent. Last Christmas he bought a house in Jersey for his widowed mother, and I understand he owns some property in Yonkers that has greatly increased in value lately.

"He is the pioneer of his business in New York, and he isn't a very old one at that, is he?" interrogated the boy's historian.—New York Advertiser.

Charles II's Ready Cash.

Lord Ailesbury thinks that just before Charles died his affairs were prosperous. "I will have no more parliaments," he said, "for, God be praised, my affairs are in so good a posture that I have no occasion to ask for supplies. A king of England that is not a slave to 500 kings is great enough." "His heart was set to live at ease, and that his subjects might live under their own vine and fig tree." "I will have by me 100,000 guineas in my strongbox," the king used to say, and Lord Ailesbury heard that "there was found there at his death about £60,000."

Concerning this Burnet says: "He left behind him about 90,000 guineas, which he had gathered either out of the privy purse or out of the money which was sent him from France, or by other methods, and which he had kept so secretly that no person whatsoever knew anything of it."—Blackwood's Magazine.

He Stopped.

A nervous little man sat on one side of the cross seats on the top of an omnibus the other day, back to back with a young woman of the "sweet girl graduate" species. The little man felt a piece of cloth tickle his neck, and thinking the ends of his cravat were sticking out he began to stuff the cloth down between the collar and waistcoat.

He was nearly scared out of his seat a minute later by hearing the girl exclaim in a loud voice: "Now, you stop! Leave my hair ribbon alone!"

The small man apologized and got off at once.—Boston Globe.

How to Go to Sleep.

Scientific investigators assert that in beginning to sleep the senses do not unitedly fall into slumber, but drop off one after another. The sight ceases in consequence of the protection of the eyelids to receive impressions first, while all the other senses preserve their sensibility entire. The sense of taste is the next which loses its susceptibility to impression, and then the sense of smelling. The hearing is next in order, and last of all comes the sense of touch. Furthermore, the senses are brought to sleep with different degrees of profoundness. The sense of touch sleeps the most lightly and is the most easily awakened; the next easiest is the hearing, the next is the sight, and the taste and smelling awake last.

Another remarkable circumstance deserves notice; certain muscles and parts of the body begin to sleep before others. Sleep commences at the extremities, beginning with the feet and legs and creeping toward the center of nervous action. The necessity of keeping the feet warm and perfectly still as a preliminary of sleep is well known. From these explanations it will not appear surprising that there should be an imperfect kind of mental action which produces the phenomena of dreaming.—American Analyst.

She Preferred the Earth.

If the girls were only as bright when they grow up as in their childhood days what a race of brilliant women there would be. One especially cute youngster has a way of saying some unusually clever things, and great hopes for her future are entertained by her family. She was quite ill recently, and her mother tried to impress upon her the delights of heaven, even being unorthodox enough to suggest an unlimited number of tricycles in the blessed abode, as one of these was the desire of the small girl's heart and the devoted mother thought to make heaven more attractive by the introduction of these rather mundane charms, yet the small invalid did not seem to be enchanted at the prospect of a speedy demise, even with a tricycle as a reward of her well doing.

At last her mother inquired why she didn't want to be a lovely fluffy angel, with a tricycle whenever she wished to ride out through the golden streets, and the practical small maiden rather astonished the expounder of heavenly joys by replying, "Well, you see, mamma, I'm better acquainted here."—Philadelphia Times.

Kentucky Camp Meetings.

A writer claims that camp meetings originated in Kentucky in the year 1800 at Gasper River church, in Logan county, and became established during the great Kentucky revival early in the century. It is claimed that both Presbyterians and Methodists participated in the earlier meetings, through the camp meeting is now looked upon as distinctly a Methodist institution. The great revival is one of the curious things in Kentucky history, and its effects are still visible in other things besides camp-meetings, granting these religious open air gatherings to have had the origin attributed to them. Something of the spirit of the old camp meetings yet survives in the "holiness meetings," but the camp meeting has in this time developed some varities that have no kinship with the godliness and religious fervor that swept the western country when Kentucky was yet an infant commonwealth.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Stray Dogs Bring Luck.

Mr. Pung, of the Chinese legation, is authority for the statement that a Chinaman can wish for no better luck than to have a strange dog come to the house with the evident intention of linking his future fortunes with those of the family. This is especially true of Peking, where stray canines, instead of being summarily dismissed from the doorstep, as is the general custom elsewhere, are taken in, cared for and their lives henceforth surrounded with the comforts most appreciated by their race. So great indeed is the superstitious feeling that no pains are spared to induce the stranger to remain permanently with the new found friends.—Kate Field's Washington.

Paid in Gold Coin.

All the employees of the elevated railroads in this city receive their pay in gold. The Manhattan railway pay envelopes are made up each month in a Nassau street bank, and about $60,000 in gold coin is used. It has been the custom of the elevated railroad managers to pay wages in gold coin for a long while. Mr. Jay Gould is credited with having expressed the opinion that gold was preferable to paper money for this purpose, because it was neater and less likely to result in mistakes.—New York Times.

The Triumph of Art.

The triumph of art over nature is illustrated in the fact that an artist recently made a painting of some beech trees in an old pasture that he sold for $280. The owner of the pasture parted company with his property at about the same time for $150, and he called it a good sale at that.—Augusta (Me.) Farmer.

Sonoma Wines Get a Premium Gold Medal at the Genoan Exposition.

Dr. Ollino, Vice President of the Italian-Swiss Agricultural Colony, located at Asti, in this county, Wednesday, received a cablegram announcing that the first prize gold medal had been unanimously awarded to the wine display made by the colony at the Italo-American Exposition at Genoa, Italy.

This is regarded as a great compliment and triumph for California wines, especially for those made from Italian grapes grown on California soil. At the exposition the wines were in direct competition with the best vintages of Italy.

SUPERIOR JUDGE WALLACE of San Francisco has been nominated by the Democrats of that city for re-election. Judge Wallace is one of the purest and learned of California Judges and should be elected by a handsome majority. Every decent Republican in San Francisco ought to vote for him for his efforts to bring the Boodlers of the last Legislature to justice if for no other reason. This is the opinion of many Sonoma Republicans. The fact that Judge Wallace is a Democrat should not deter one opposed to his political opinions from voting for a just and wise Judge.

IN British Columbia two gold-seekers, William Corlett of Galveston and Henry Gesford, formerly of St. Paul, have met a terrible fate. While out hunting they were suddenly attacked by a lion and badly wounded, one of them seriously. A companion sought to take the two to camp. At night he started for camp for aid, leaving the two wounded men surrounded by fire, as a protection against the wild beasts, which were heard all about them. When the party from camp reached the place they found that Gesford, who had gone for water, had been attacked by wild animals, killed and his body partly devoured. Corlett had evidently tried to rise and give aid to his companion, but was so weakened that he had fallen across the dying fire and had been literally roasted alive.

LOCAL ITEMS.

A candy pull was the amusement entered into by a number of friends who called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goodman of Shellville last Wednesday evening.

Henry Hartin has been making many improvements on his property. He has had a fine new porch erected and the grounds are being laid out with a lawn which will be dotted here and there with choice shrubs and flowers.

Five hundred children are in daily attendance at the Powell Street Presentation Convent, San Francisco. The Sonoma Presentation Convent is a branch of the above institution, which has for its object the free education of all children in the English branches.

Attorney J. P. Rodgers has filed an opposition to the probate of the will of the late Wm. W. Carriger, who was on the 27th of last month, killed by his brother, Albert B. Carriger, who is now in jail awaiting trial on the charge of murder. One of the grounds of opposition is that the will was made through the undue influence and false representations of the said A. B. Carriger, by which the deceased was induced to cut off his wife, Kate C. Carriger, and leave the whole of his property to A. B. Carriger and other brothers and sisters of the deceased.

On Friday evening of last week, Hadie Prestwood, whose handsome and smiling face we will no more see in Clewe & Co's. store, was tendered a most enjoyable farewell reception at Brookside, the residence of Mrs. M. A. Johnson. Very elaborate preparations were made for the occasion and in every respect the affair proved a social success. Every apartment of the house was tastefully decorated. The parlor floor was covered with a large white canvass for the purpose of dancing. In every corner the magnolia mingled its fragrance with orange blossoms and roses, while overhead branches of bridal wreath and evergreens displayed their beauty by stretching from one corner to the other interlaced with maidens hair, violets and white flowers. At 12 o'clock the guests were ushered into the reception room. Dancing was the principal feature of the evening. The following were present: Mrs. Johnson, Misses Eva Prunty, Birdie Johnson, Zoe Clark, Lena Johnson, Zelma Johnson, Elsie Appleton. Messrs. Claude Johnson, Hardie Prestwood, Rannie McDonell, Henry Bates, William Prunty, Harry Faithful, Charley Cutter, Hartley Gottenberg, Adam Adler and Tod Appleton.

NO GOOD..

ED. INDEX-TRIBUNE:

I see by the papers that the late Republican Convention of Sonoma county held in Petaluma nominated M. K. Cady for the Assembly from this District.

Cady, as a Supervisor of Sonoma and Vallejo Townships, has neglected the interests of its people to boom the County Seat while acting in that capacity.

On the 8th of January, 1890, the people of Glen Ellen voted a tax on the property-owners of Glen Ellen and Dunbar school districts to build a school house in the former place. At the time of the election one of the election Board was also a School Trustee of Glen Ellen. The law says that no School Trustee shall set on an election board. I proved to Mr. Cady and the rest of the Board of Supervisors by twenty-five citizens that the law had been violated and such being the case the tax was null and void. Mr. Cady at the time admitted that the Supervisors could not put the tax on us people, but when it came to vote on the proposition he voted the other way all the same and made us pay it.

Now, if the people of this Assembly district want to send such a man as that to the Legislature all right, let them "go it, old horse."

Yours respectfully,

JAS. S. PIERATT.

On the way to Paradise.

Let us hope that the people who habitually disregard their health will reach that desirable place, and avoid the locality which is less desirable as an eternal residence on account of the heat and surroundings generally. But while we tarry in this vale of tears, why should we voluntarily endure the tortures of dyspepsia, when a systematic use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will rid us of the atrocious malady which—unless physicians are very much at fault—tends to shorten the term of our existence. Heartburn, biliousness, constipation almost always accompany this complaint and are symptomatic of it. These are all extinguished by the Bitters, which also conquers completely malaria, rheumatism, nervousness and debility. Since the appearance of "la grippe" it has shown a singular mastery over this formidable complaint that has carried off so many of our brightest and best.

PUBLIC MEN SPEAK.

OPINIONS OF IMPORTANCE FREELY EXPRESSED.

Most Interesting and Valuable Facts Brought Out in an Interview by Our Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—The interviews with various prominent men which I recently sent you as to the apparently mysterious cause of the untimely and sudden deaths among them, has aroused a great deal of excitement.

Senators, representatives and heads of departments all declare that unless some steps can be taken to avoid the killing strains of public life, few prominent men would care to run for office. Traced to its source, it has become fully apparent that there is one great cause for it all, and that cause is the wearing strains upon certain organs of the body which cause their tissues to give way, and hence bring about sickness or sudden death. I continued the investigation, which was reported yesterday, by calling upon a number of leading public men.

Hon. Daniel Lockwood, genial and whole-souled, has an extensive knowledge of the public men of the country. He was well aware of the strains to which they are subjected, and the sudden deaths which have been so prevalent. "It would seem," he said, "as though there should be some way of preventing these things. Our grandfathers had family remedies that seemed to preserve health and prolong life, and it would appear as though some modern discovery should be found which would answer the same purpose for the added strains of modern life. I think if anyone has such a discovery it is certainly my friend Warner with his famous Safe Cure. I know of a great many people who use it constantly; and I have in mind one gentleman connected with the Government Printing Office here who, together with his wife, has occasion to be exceedingly grateful for the restored health and strength which Warner's Safe Cure has imparted."

Hon. H. S. Greenleaf was found in the House of Representatives. He said: "The exhaustions of public life are certainly very great, but so also are the strains of business life, of professional life, of social life. I have personal acquaintance with Mr. Warner, the discoverer of the celebrated Safe Cure, and I consider it far superior to any or all other preparations. Certainly any article as popular as that and selling as extensively as it does, must have unusual merit."

Probably the most remarkable case of a government official brought to death's door and then rescued is that of Mr. J. Henderson Wilkinson, a prominent attorney of this city. In conversation with me, he said: "Ten years ago I was seized with an attack of Bright's disease. I was then at work in the Treasury, here. I know it was Bright's disease for several reasons. In early life I studied medicine some little time. I knew from my symptoms what my trouble was, but I was also in the hands of my physicians. How badly I became, you can understand when I say that my hands became bloated and actually cracked open. My limbs and body would alternately swell and collapse. I could only creep across the floor. Finally my physician said to me: 'You are at death's door with Bright's disease. You may live a few weeks, but there is absolutely no hope of your recovery.' Although I was so very sick my friends did not desert me. Numbers of them called to express their sympathy. Col. Daniel A. Dye's sister, Judge Tarbel, Rev. Dr. Rankin, Col. Robert M. Douglas—more than a hundred prominent men—extended to me their sympathy. None supposed for a moment I could ever recover. Upon the advice of the Rev. Dr. Rankin, now President of the Howard University, I began the use of a preparation of which I had but little knowledge. I began to improve at once. I continued its use, nothing else, and I state to you to-day that I owe my life solely to Warner's Safe Cure, which rescued me from the grave after the doctors had abandoned all hope. I am certain that if men and women generally fully realized the wonderful power of this great discovery, and used it faithfully, there would be less sickness, fewer deaths, longer life and more happiness than at present."

I was greatly impressed with Mr. Wilkinson's earnestness of manner. Certain it is, that his statement is true, and that he is to-day in perfect health.

Senator Blackburn not only knows what wearing strains of political life are, but also of the power which the great discovery above mentioned has shown both in Washington and throughout the land. Indeed, he is a living example of its efficiency.

I saw Senator W. C. Squire, Mr. H. C. Clark of the First Auditor's Office, Captain J. G. Ball, and many others, and their statements amply confirmed all I had previously learned.

Mr. Abraham I. Hahn, well known in newspaper and army circles, said: "Personally, I have used Warner's Safe Cure, and consider it the best medicine in the world for the diseases it is recommended to cure. A member of my family has also been cured after several physicians had failed to do any good."

Mr. H. McNeil, a highly educated man, a graduate of a medical college, said: "I have frequently heard Mrs Hahn mention Warner's Safe Cure, and its highly beneficial effect."

Wherever I went I found the testimony the same. It was generally admitted that the strains of public life in Washington were wearing and shortening to the life, but it was universally conceded that for overcoming these tendencies, for strengthening the vitality, toning the health and prolonging the life nothing had ever been known equal to the great remedy I have above described.

A Friend

Wishes to speak through the Register of the beneficial results he has received from a regular use of Ayer's Pills. He says: "I was feeling sick and tired and my stomach seemed all out of order. I tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to give me relief until I was induced to try the old reliable Ayer's Pills. I have taken only one box, but I feel like a new man. I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so finely sugar-coated that even a child will take them. I urge upon all who are of a laxative to try Ayer's Pills."—Boothbay (Me.) Register.

In Need

"Between the ages of five and fifteen, I was troubled with a kind of salt-rheum, or eruption, chiefly confined to the legs, and especially to the bend of the knee above the calf. Here, running sores formed which would scab over, but would break immediately on moving the leg. My mother tried everything she could think of, but all was without avail. Although a child, I read in the papers about the beneficial effects of Ayer's Pills, and persuaded my mother to let me try them. With no great faith in the result, she procured and I began to use them, and soon noticed an improvement. Encouraged by this, I kept on till I took two boxes, when the sores disappeared and have never troubled me since."—H. Chipman, Real Estate Agent, Roanoke, Va.

"I suffered for years from stomach and kidney troubles, causing very severe pains in various parts of the body. None of the remedies I tried afforded me any relief until I began taking Ayer's Pills, and was cured."—Wm. Goddard, Notary Public, Five Lakes, Mich.

His funeral took place Wednesday, the remains being interred in the Catholic cemetery in this place.

Andrew Conlin, a young man twenty-one years of age, was thrown from his horse on Napa street near Duhring's store last Tuesday afternoon and knocked senseless. He was picked up and taken to his home in the southern suburbs of town, where he shortly after revived. Fortunately no bones were broken, although he was considerably cut and bruised about the head and body This is the second or third time he has been thrown from the same horse within the past few months.

The close season for quail expires to-day. The hills surrounding Sonoma are fairly swarming with the birds at present writing, but we venture the assertion that they will be found very scarce from the opening to the close of the season. The quail is a wary bird and instinct seems to teach that bipid when it is healthy for him to be abroad, for during the close season quail can be seen in large numbers almost any day no matter where one goes. After the season opens, however, they disappear and go into hiding and it takes considerable work on the part of the hunter and his dog to find them.

Beane will submit figures as to the cost of the plant and expense of maintainance and will be pleased to meet any one interested in the project at the City Hall, at 8 o'clock in the evening of the 5th inst.

STATE AND COUNTY TAX LEVY.

The Rate to Be $1.05 on the $100 of Valuation.

At a special session of the Board of Supervisors held last Monday the State and County tax for the current year was fixed at $1.05 on the $100 of valuation. This tax will net the county about $312,000, to which is to be added $15,000 income from county licenses and other sources, making the sum total to run the county government on for the next year about $327,000. This is considerable money for our Supervisors to handle and considering the extravagance and wastefulness of the present Board of Supervisors it behooves the tax-payers to elect good men to that office in the coming election. The people of Sonoma and Vallejo Townships do not want another advocate of a $10,000 map, a $40,000 hall of records and iron bridges by the score. They want a Supervisor that will represent them generally and not himself individually.

The Weather and Grapes.

The weather the past week has been very peculiar. On Sunday afternoon with the thermometer registering 92 degrees a thunder and lightning shower set in which was of short duration. On Monday it was excessively warm and remained so throughout the night. Tuesday it was cool and foggy in the morning and sunshiny and hot in the afternoon. On Wednesday evening there was another slight shower of rain accompanied by peals of thunder and vivid flashes of lightning. The weather the past two weeks has been very favorable for grapes in this valley and it is thought wine-making will commence a little earlier this season than usual.

The right man for Sheriff is S. I. Allen. *

A Good Business Investment.

In another column will be found the advertisement of Jas. McMackin who offers to lease his feed mill in this place for a term of years to any responsible party. This mill, with proper management can be made to earn from $30 to $50 per day while in operation. It is the only mill of the kind in Sonoma Valley and is complete in every detail. The owner, Mr. McMackin, is a retired business man and will lease the property at a very reasonable figure. For an industrious, energetic man this is a chance which should not be let slip without investigation.

A Quiet Campaign.

So far the political campaign in Sonoma has been a very tame affair. No sky-rockets, no brass bands, no parades, no whisky, no nothing if we except a couple of meetings at Union Hall. To those fond of their toddy the campaign has been a dismal failure and every old bum in town is threatening to throw off on the Republican and Democratic nominees and vote the Prohibition ticket.

Death of Dr. L. C. Frisbie.

Dr. L. C. Frisbie, for forty years a practicing physician of Vallejo, died in that city last Saturday. His remains were brought to this city on Monday and temporarily placed in the public receiving vault. Dr. Frisbie was one of the founders of Vallejo and was the son-in-law of the late lamented General Vallejo. He was also a brother of Gen. John B. Frisbie of the City of Mexico.

SAN FRANCISCO AND NORTH PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Its Sale Ordered by the Superior Court.

Judge Angelotti of the Superior Court of Marin county on Monday last made an order authorizing the executors of the will of the late James M. Donahue to sell the Donahue railway system, which extends through the counties of Marin, Sonoma and Humboldt at either private or public sale. There is much speculation as to who will become the new owner of the road.

The San Francisco Post in commenting upon the sale of the Donahue railway system says: The order referred to confers the authority which Messrs. Burgin and McGlynn, executors of the will of the late Colonel J. Mervyn Donahue, asked for some weeks ago through their attorney, Charles F. Hanlon, desiring to finally settle up the estate and obtain their discharge. Judge Angelotti has not hurried himself any in giving a decision upon the application, desiring to afford any one interested in the road an opportunity to object if he or she wished to. As it has been stated before in the Post what is to be sold is not, properly speaking, the railroad itself, but simply Colonel Donahue's interest therein, consisting of 42,000 shares out of the total of 60,000. The transfer of this stock will carry with it the control of the road in time, but not until the expiration of an arrangement with the Seligmans of New York, who loaned $4,000,000 on the bonds of the road, and are to have an equal share in the management until a settlement is made. The Seligmans are, however, considered as likely to buy the road themselves.

The Plaza Trees.

The trees in the Plaza we are sorry to say are being neglected by the City Trustees. If these trees were well irrigated for two seasons during the spring and summer months they would make a remarkable growth and would require little or no cultivation. As Mr. Aguillon has offered to furnish all the water necessary free of charge we can see no good reason why the trees should be allowed to be stunted in their growth for want of irrigation. The expense, if we except the digging of a few shallow ditches alongside the trees for the water to flow through, would be nothing.

Grand Jurors.

The following were impaneled in Department One of the Superior Court last Monday to serve as grand jurors: Wm. A. Lewis, Frank Briggs, John C. Fisk, Wm. P. Hall, Joseph Potter, Hiram Hasbrouch, John Adams, M. D. Goshen, Hiram W. Smith, Hiram Briggs, George F. Allen, J. L. Dinwiddie, Wm. M. Doran, David Hetzel, David C. Knowles, Wm. B. Purvine, August A. REMINGTON.

Glen Ellen, September 28th, 1892.

The many remarkable cures of catarah effected by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a conclusive proof that this loathsome and dangerous disease is one of the blood, only needing such a searching and powerful alterative to thoroughly eradicate it.

On last Wednesday evening we had the pleasure of listening to some of the finest instrumental music at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Stevenot that has ever been heard in Sonoma. The performer was Madame Roach of San Francisco, who plays on the piano with wonderful time and expression. The madame plays only classic music and her rendition gives genuine pleasure to all who like artistic piano music. Madame Roach has taken up her residence in Sonoma and at no distant day the people of this valley will have a chance to hear her for themselves as she contemplates giving a concert in the near future.

MATT STORN.

Arrested for Trying to Kill a Chicago Car Conductor.

Matt Storn, the well-known Sonoma horseman, who makes his winter quarters in this town, where he has a fine stable of horses, and who went East several months ago to take in the races with his string of animals, was arrested in Chicago one day last week for threatening to kill a car conductor. Mr. Storn is ordinarily a quiet and peaceable man, says a Chicago dispatch, but on the night of the difficulty he became imbued with a wild and woolly Western spirit. He boarded a Madison-street cable train for the park where his horses are. At Halsted street the conductor asked Mr. Storn for his nickel. Mr. Storn grew bellicose, reached for his big 44 revolver and, springing up with the weapon in his hand, tried to get a bead on the frightened conductor. That functionary was not alone in his terror. A carload of passengers were with him. There was a mad scramble for the pavement at the imminent risk of limb, if not of life. The gripman, noticing the panic, stopped the train. Officer Sheedy also noticed it from his post on the corner. He boarded the car, and under the muzzle of Mr. Storn's big gun, arrested the angry horseman. Mr. Storn put the weapon in his pocket. It was taken from him at the station, and so was $7000, which he had in his inside pocket.

BRUGGY.

He Was Not Hanged Yesterday—Further Stay of Proceedings Granted.

George Bruggy, for the fourth time since he was sentenced to death, has been granted a reprive. Sheriff Mulgrew had everything in readiness to kill the man by breaking his neck at ten o'clock yesterday morning, when he received a dispatch from Carrol Cook of counsel for the condemned man, stating that Judge McKenna had stayed all proceedings. The Judge's order was subsequently telegraphed to the Sheriff. The order was made by Judge McKenna to enable Bruggy to take an appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

REASONS WHY

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder Is The Best.

FIRSTLY.—It is the oldest Cream of Tartar Baking Powder in the world, and has stood the test of 40 years.

SECONDLY.—Its makers have never succumbed to the temptation to introduce ammonia or alum in their goods, for the purpose of cheapening the cost.

THIRDLY.—It is made from the purest Cream of Tartar, refined in the immense plant at Jersey City controlled by this company, by patented processes used by no other refiner.

FOURTHLY.—The governments of the United States and Canada have endorsed Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder after thorough examination, as have also the heads of our great universities, prominent physicians, boards of health and the public. It is used in the United States Army and Navy and in the cuisines of the most select clubs, hotels and private families.

FIFTHLY.—It is just what it is represented to be, viz: a pure Cream of Tartar powder and can stand on its record without any bolstering up by means of fraudulent certificates, or resorting to any other tricks practised—sometimes successfully—by other makers of so-called "absolutely pure" powders

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Republican Meeting.

The Republican meeting at Union Hall last Saturday evening was poorly attended. The meeting was addressed by Messrs. Farquar and McKinlay of Santa Rosa, both of whom made excellent speeches which were well received. It is said the failure of Republicans to turn out was caused by a rumor which had been set afloat that the Republican nominee for the Assembly would be present and run the meeting. Whether this be true or not we are unable to state, but we do know that something was amiss.

An Exciting Experience.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lomont had a narrow escape from death while driving on Grosse's grade Sunday afternoon. The horse took fright at the charred remains of a stump, which was lying by the side of the road and started to jump off the grade. Mr. Lomont saw that their only safety lay in throwing the horse if possible. It was a desperate chance, but just as the frightened animal was about to plunge off the grade, a powerful twist of the reins caused him to fall on his side. The carriage was overturned and Mr. and Mrs. Lomont were penned beneath it. Luckily the horse could not gain his feet, else Mr. and Mrs. Lomont might have been dragged to death. With some difficulty Mr. Lomont managed to extricate himself, and after liberating his wife he assisted the horse to its feet. Fortunately they escaped with a few bruises.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

ELECTRICITY'S RIVAL.

The Advantages of Compressed Air for Street Car Propulsion.

In view of the objections to the overhead electric system for propulsion of cars on surface roads in cities, the annoyance from tearing up streets and the cost of plant and maintenance of the cable lines, the expense of horsepower with the sanitary evils resulting from the location of stables in populous cities, the fact that pneumatic motors after a successful demonstration of their superiority have been largely overlooked seems inexplicable. These motors not only are entirely free from the objectionable features of the other systems, but they furnish a mode of propulsion which is more safe and more economical than any other with equal velocity of transit.

These assertions are made advisedly and are based on actual demonstration. In 1878 and 1879 five pneumatic motors were run for several months on the Second avenue railroad in New York with perfect success. The position taken by the officers of horse railroad companies, both in New York and Philadelphia, was that any car running along city streets without horses in front would frighten horses, cause runaway accidents and subject companies to suits for damages. This objection of course applies with much greater force to the cable and trolley systems, which are accompanied by a loud, humming noise, while the pneumatic motor can have a noiseless exhaust. But no argument or explanation availed in the face of this senseless objection.

One railroad president declared that if the motor were adopted by his company it world be necessary to kill some of his old horses, stuff the skins and mount a pair of them on a low truck in front of each car. Conditions existing now seem favorable for the introduction of a motor which, free from the objections to all other systems, with no new defects of its own, may be considered perfect. No fears are now entertained that a car running without horses in front will make a stampede of all equines on the streets traversed, and this in 1879 was the only reason urged in opposition to the introduction of the pneumatic motor. The system would be particularly adapted to suburban localities and would afford better facilities for rapid transit than are now afforded by elevated roads, for while the speed would be equal to twenty miles or more per hour the stops need not be limited to stations, but could be made at any point.

With the small class of motors three cars, or two in addition to the motor, can ascend grades as steep as any usually found on horse railroads. This is a point of the greatest value for public accomodation. It will enable a company to utilize all its old cars and supply additional cars at the hours when the rush of travel requires them without additional expense for power or conductors. The pneumatic motor would be peculiarly adapted to underground roads, as the escape of pure air would assist in the ventilation, but it is the best possible for all urban or suburban roads, whether elevated, surface or in tunnels.—Engineering Magazine.

Is Our Sun a Dynamo?

As we look at the glowing carbon in an incandescent lamp and know that it is possible for that hairlike filament to maintain its heat and brilliancy, almost unchanged, for more than 1,000 hours, it is an object lesson for us. It is intense heat and brilliant light without combustion. When feeble man has been able to so far unravel the mysteries of heat and light as to be able to accomplish this result, a suspension of judgment at least is called for on the part of our scientific leaders who hold to the the theory that the heat of the sun must be derived from combustion, and predict that the time may come when the fuel will be exhausted.

The light coming from the incandescent lamp is simply another form of motion. Is it not possible that he who sits on high as the ruler of all forces may utilize the motion of the rolling spheres as huge dynamos, and thus give us sunlight and heat without combustion?—Popular Electric Monthly.

His Choice.

An amusing parallel to the famous story of "I prefer the gout" comes from Newcastle. Though matters are almost as much at ebb there as they can be in the way of trade, ale is still flowing. A collier who had a very bad leg was plainly told by his medical attendant that his love of drink was the cause of his disease, and that he must either give up his ale or lose his leg. He had no more hesitation about the alternative than had Tennyson's "Northern Farmer" in a similar predicament.

"If this 'ere leg winna stand a drop o' good ale I'll hae nowt to do wi' it. Off wi' it!"—London Tit-Bits.

What "Amen" Meant to Her.

Being taught to say "amen" to close her evening petition, not realizing its meaning and having remembrances of the street peddler, who had visited the street that afternoon, to her great delight, Little Iva finished her prayer by saying, "A man; he sells bananas; buy me one!"—New York Tribune.

"German Syrup"

Martinsville, N.J., Methodist Parsonage. "My acquaintance with your remedy, Boschee's German Syrup, was made about fourteen years ago, when I contracted a Cold which resulted in a Hoarseness and a Cough which disabled me from filling my pulpit for a number of Sabbaths. After trying a Physician, without obtaining relief—I cannot say now what remedy he prescribed—I saw the advertisement of your remedy and obtained a bottle. I received such quick and permanent help from it that whenever we have had Throat or Bronchial troubles since in our family, Boschee's German Syrup has been our favorite remedy and always with favorable results. I have never hesitated to report my experience of its use to others when I have found them troubled in like manner." REV. W. H. HAGGARTY, of the Newark, New Jersey, M.E. Conference, April 25, '90.

PASTOR KOENIGS NERVE TONIC

ALAMOSA, COL., Jan., '89. XII

My wife was troubled with nervousness about one year before she took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, and at that time had very severe attacks of spasm, convulsion, and pains in different parts of the body; when in this state her lower jaws would act violently and set sometimes, bite her tongue, breathe heavily, then short, then seemed to stop entirely, get a wild look in her eyes and rolling around, then stop sometimes; it would take two men to hold her in bed, otherwise her body would cramp and be so for two hours. She took but two bottles of the Nerve Tonic, which cured her entirely of all these torments, which myself and wife gladly testify it truly had the desired effect D. S. M'GILLIS.

Mrs. Ester Devilbiss, 354 S. Tenth street, San Jose, Cal., writes, October 1889: Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic has indeed done wonders in my part of the country. There has been bought in my neighborhood over $75 worth.

Preservatives for Grapes.

"I was surprised to learn a few days ago," said one gentleman to a companion, "that the grapes we eat at dessert, especially the white varieties, may have been plucked from the vines a month before. A few days ago I went to a fruit store near my home and asked for two pounds of white grapes, incidentally remarking that they were for my little boy, who was sick.

"'Why don't you take one of these 5-pound baskets?' asked the dealer. 'They are somewhat cheaper when bought in such quantities, and besides I will put a preservative on the grapes that, while it will not impair their appearance or taste and is not in the least injurious to the stomach, will keep them for two or three weeks. Taste one of those grapes,' and he pointed to a big basket of fine fruit.

"The grapes were sound and of fine flavor. 'Those grapes you have eaten,' he said, 'have been kept in stock two months, and I can probably keep them as much longer. I do not know what the preservative is composed of. I get it from a big firm of chemists down town, and they guarantee there is nothing injurious in it. I have never tried it on any kind of fruit except grapes, but I guess it would prove just as efficacious on peaches or plums.'"—New York Advertiser.

The Terrible Gou-Gou.

Several writers, among them the eminent Samuel de Champlain, tell awful stories of the work of a supernatural monster that formerly inhabited the islands of the Day of Chaleur. To the Indians of the Chaleur region this terrible being, which always appeared in the form of a woman, was known as the "gou-gou." As printed the word is usually divided, and pronounced with a quick, guttural sound, not wholly unlike the "goo-goo" of a baby. This monstrous amazonian, the legend tells us, lived on human flesh. She caught Indians by the dozens and stowed them away in pouches at her hips, the pouches being large enough, so an old Indian told Champlain, to hold "fifty ponies."

Hundreds of the Indians living around the bay declared to both Willis and Champlain that they had often seen the horrid monster step from island to island, and that her head was "higher than a cloud." "From what they say," Champlain writes, "I should say that Chaleur is the dwelling place of some devil that torments them in the above named manner."—St. Louis Republic.

NAGLE IN COURT.

In the Justice's Court of Santa Rosa Township, Sonoma County, California.

J. W. RAGSDALE, Plaintiff, vs. F. G. NAGLE, Defendant.

The plaintiff for cause of action against the defendant, alleges: That on the 16th day of November, 1888, said defendant, F. G. Nagle, received from G. W. Call the sum of one hundred (100) dollars, the property of the Sonoma County Abstract Bureau; that of said money said defendant, Nagle, returned to said Bureau the sum of $20 only, and retained, and ever since has retained, the balance of said $100, to-wit, $80, for his own use, and that no part of said $80 has ever been paid; that said Bureau assigned said claim to plaintiff.

For a further and separate cause of action plaintiff alleges: That defendant is indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $80 for money had and received from G. W. Call, November 16th, 1888, for the use and benefit of the Sonoma County Abstract Bureau, which claim has been assigned to the plaintiff, and that no part of the same has ever been paid.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for a judgment against defendant for the sum of $80 and costs.

RUTLEDGE & PRESSLEY, Attorneys for Plaintiff.

Dec. 9, 1891, complaint filed, summons issued and served. Dec. 15 default and judgment entered against defendant for $80 and costs. Dec. 16th, Nagle pays judgment.
